

JWHPT Special Topic Issue

The Female Athlete: Elevating Health and Performance Call for Papers

Journal of Women's Health Physical Therapy is planning a special issue related to female athlete entitled, The Female Athlete: Elevating Health and Performance. You are invited to submit a paper for possible inclusion in this special issue.

Guest Editor: Shefali Christopher, PT, DPT, PhD, LAT, ATC (Board certified in sports physical therapy)

Submit a Manuscript at www.editorialmanager.com/jwhpt/default.aspx

Author instructions are available on the journal website <https://journals.lww.com/jwhpt/>. JWHPT welcomes original research, including systematic reviews and meta-analyses, case reports and clinical commentary articles. Focusing on the female athlete's health and well-being, this special issue will be published in April 2023. Topics may include but are not limited to; pelvic health, menstrual health, factors affecting participation and performance, and mental health. Manuscripts for this special topic issue can be submitted as early as March 1, 2022. Manuscript submission deadline: August 15, 2022.

Please email Dr. Shefali Christopher at: schristopher3@elon.edu if you are considering a submission to this special issue. Dr. Christopher is Assistant Professor in the Department of physical therapy education at Elon University and Director of the sports physical therapy residency program.

JWHPT is the official publication of the APTA Academy of Pelvic Health Physical Therapy and provides a platform for researchers, practitioners, and educators to present new research and developments in women's and pelvic health, as well as to synthesize current knowledge and project future trends.

Please visit JWHPT at <https://journals.lww.com/jwhpt/>